

Samy Awwad

Samy Awwad is a first year pre-medical student at Stanford University. At 15 years old, Samy founded a pandemic preparedness organization called ImmuniGlobal, through which he was able to predict the devastation of the next pandemic. Through ImmuniGlobal, Samy has worked on a plethora of diverse projects, including hands-on influenza school workshops.

Samy is excited to bring his knowledge of immunology and passion for social good to the Families Fighting Flu Junior Board.